The United Nations works for

1. A world free of nuclear weapons.
2. The total elimination of biological and chemical weapons.
3. Robust humanitarian standards to prevent the illicit arms trade.
4. An end to landmines, cluster munitions and other indiscriminate weapons.
5. Preventing terrorists from acquiring weapons of mass destruction.
6. An open, secure, stable, accessible and peaceful cyberspace.
7. Transparency and accountability in military imports and exports, and in military spending.
8. Meaningful controls on emerging weapons technologies to protect civilians from unaccountable harm.
9. Building collaborative partnerships with Governments and civil society organizations.
10. Disarmament and development to build a world free from fear and want.
